Comments:

There should be no exceptions made I the Colorado roadless rule to allow coal exploration or coal mining in any form in these protected wild lands that are being protected either by Colorado Roadless rule or our Federal roadless rule act. This wild habitat must be protected completely at all costs with no exceptions. Our lands and environment must be protected from such catastrophic degradation by an industry that would cause catastrophic damage to the Colorado wild lands environment and would contribute to causing destruction to our atmosphere, contributing to global warming that is excellerating. The use of fossil fuels should be terminated and no further mining for coal should be done when solar and wind energy could be used in its place
