Comments:

Though I am not a Colorado resident, I believe this decision will still impact me. Overall I am against any changes that allow increases in coal mining. If you believe in climate change, which I do, this is the wrong direction to take. Increasing the supply of coal will promote a dirtier fuel instead of renewables. Furthermore, this decision does not show a definite net benefit at a national level. While I sympathize with people who live there locally, there are better ways for the government to support local communities. This method will harm the planet and could cause an increase in many negative health outcomes. Please protect our forests and planet by keeping mining out.

Thank you,
