Comments:

I am adamantly opposed to any new coal mining in Colorado, especially by a coal company that has declared bankruptcy that will never be able to reclaim the land at the end of mining. Roadless areas are meant to be roadless areas. Coal is dead as a fuel as the US moves to natural gas and renewable energy. Coal mine output has been dropping since 2007. There is no reason in the world to allocate more Federal land for coal mining. And especially no reason to open roadless areas!!!!
