Approval of such a plan to mine coal - the primary source of the carbon pollution driving the Climate Change Crisis - is ludicrous. Coal is rapidly being replaced by cleaner and more efficient means of power generation such as solar and wind. More people are employed by these alternative energy sources than coal production and the field is growing. The costs of producing power by this new and clean technology is already less expensive than digging up fossil fuel to be transformed into pollutants that foul our planet. Keep the coal in the ground!
