Dear Sirs|Madams:

I am writing in opposition to the "Blue Mountains Forest Resiliency [is that a joke?] Project".

I understand that if finalized, the EIS they will approve commercial logging 574.2 square miles and authorize the building approximately 335 miles of sediment producing road. Not only will the trees be gone, but the streams will be muddy.

The forest plans for each forest will also be amended to allow old-growth logging of trees greater than 21 inches in diameter.

This is an unacceptable desecration of our national resources for the unexpressed, but actual, purpose of transferring the national wealth of our nation into the pockets of selected elites to enrich them without providing commensurate value to those being deprived of their patrimony... the American people.

I urge those in authority to reject this get rich quick scheme and act to protect our national resources from Capitalist exploitation (sometimes called 'development').

Rael Nidess, M.D.
