I think the forest service management plan is to close the entire national forest for recreation, logging, mining, etc. The environmental terrorists have created such a fear that the national forest is taking their side and not allowing any activity.

We can't harvest the crop of timber and manage it from becoming huge forest fires. Instead of making money and harvesting the timber crop and replanting it, we chose to let it die and spend millions of dollars fighting the fires it creates!

The national forest is for multiple use and not for just a few, that is what I call discrimination, to not have shared use for motorized public and to keep closing areas to ride, because of noise, pollution, and erosion. Don't close areas, just make rules for multiple use, like quieter mufflers, four stroke emissions, and certain days to access.

I doubt if this will do any good because I have been to forest service meetings in the past and it was already decided what they were going to do, just making the public feel like we had some input.

I feel bad for the businesses that serve this area, because if you don't sell mountain bikes or have a horse you will never see the back county and when you do it will be huge areas of burned timber!

Pretty sad that in this generation the solution of the forest service is to just close the national forest to industry and motorized recreation to save our environment.

We can still save the environment with clean technology and rules for EVERYONE!
