Geographic and Management Area Building Blocks

We are very concerned that our forests have good management to protect our wilderness areas from commercialization and destruction. We support recreation areas that are ecologically healthy and economically sustainable. Backcountry trails and other hiking trails are important as respite for Americans, and more importantly, for the survival and well-being of our wildlife, birds and insects, and for our plants to keep our air quality sound. We hope you recommend more land area for wilderness and parks, to protect from further erosion and development of our wild places. Thank you. Heidi and Marshall Fields, Asheville, NC
