Comments:

Single track motorized users are the most conscientious users I have ever come across. As a hiker and fisherman, I see disrespect for regulation among most groups but never from motorcycle riders in this or other similar areas. As stewards of the land, the motorcyclists I have encountered on these single track trails respect EVERYONE'S right to be there and use the trails. Additionally they are quick to repair/maintain trail conditions, they do not create new tracks around deadfall timber and they avoid using sections where excess snow or rain or even rock slides have endangered trail conditions. Some user complaints stem from a personal objection to the sound generated by these motorized users. Oddly, the most wildlife can be seen from a motorized conveyance as opposed to pedestrians on foot OR on horseback or on foot with a dog. Give these folks a break - it's comforting to know they are there and they care!!!
