In late June I had the great fortune of kayaking the South Fork of the Salmon River. I've been to Idaho 4 times over the past 6 years or so to run the Middle Fork of the Salmon, Selway, and other creeks in the vicinity. This year, as part of our Middle Fork trip we decided to fit in a trip down the South Fork as well. What an amazing treasure the south fork is! We paddled with a crew of 11 paddlers, coming from across the nation, and it was easily one of the top 5 river I have ever paddled in all of my 20 or so years of paddling. The Frank Church Wilderness is a national treasure and the rivers that provide access to this wilderness are truly magical. Please find a way to protect these vita resources for those that come behind us. It would be insane to do otherwise!
