do you want to make a rule for the tongass that will protect it from building more roads? i support that.

we don't need more roads - we need more roadless areas. the more open space and wilderness we have, the better.

we need to take a hiatus from road building in our country. most especially in wild places. we need to transition from exploring and drilling for oil and gas and focus on a clean energy future supporting sustainable, renewable sources of energy. that is the only thing that makes any sense now. too many people, too many roads, too much exploitation and too much destruction. protect what we have and maybe even open up more roadless areas.
