Comments:

Accommodating timber harvesting (i.e., clear-cutting of old-growth forests to supply the Asian construction market) and economic development (i.e., fossil-fuel extraction) are in no way part of responsible conservation and management of roadless areas in Tongass National Forest but are rather deceptive descriptions of opening up virgin forest to ruthless corporate exploitation.

Please do the job you were appointed to do. Adopt the so-called "no-action alternative" which, in fact, is decisive action to preserve, protect and effectively manage roadless areas of the Tongass National Forest by leaving in place the 1001 Roadless Rule in Chugach National Forest. Anything else is wanton destruction of America's greatest natural treasures to enrich the timber and fossil-fuel barons. Thank you for your courage and conviction in taking the stand that you know is the only correct stand to take.
