Comments:

Alaska's wild nature and its land is a resource far more valuable than what lies beneath it (or grows on it.) and can only be preserved if we maintain a roadless system.

NO ROAD.

If a resource is so valuable that you want to destroy what is great about Alaska, then it is worth it to use boats and planes for transport. Let's not ruin Alaska the way the lower 48 was ruined. The 99 cent hamburger approach is too cheap for Alaska.
