To whom it may concern, I urge you to keep the Tongass national area pristine and wild. There are so few places left in the world of this stature. I live in the state of Michigan. It barely has any truly wild areas left except for Isle Royal which is a major hiking, canoeing, visiting and kayaking economic attraction. People travel from all over the world to seeking wilderness such as the Tongass. Economically it is the right thing to do as well as morally. In a future of unrelenting human expansion it is imperative some places on earth stay free of roads. Animal species aren't the only things that go extinct so do areas of irreplaceable wilderness.
