Comments:

I have perused the accompanying attachments and information about the Alaska exemption to the USFS roadless rule.

While I agree with Governor Walkers proposal to appoint an Alaska Roadless Rule Citizen Advisory Committee, there are some nuances that suggest the committee will be weighted in favor of major development representatives.

I strongly recommend including representatives from the sport fishing sector as well as the hunting sector.

These two groups are probably the largest groups of citizen users of the Tongass.

I understand the need for resource exploitation and jobs, my home is constructed mostly of wood, but it should be a consideration in development, that those areas that have the highest values are also likely to support the highest densities of fish and wildlife.
