To Whom it May Concern,

I implore you to think very carefully about the massive impact you will have on the wilderness areas, resources, residents and businesses in Alaska when you consider altering the Roadless Rule.

As a recent transplant and business owner in SE Alaska, the main reasons I relocated and operate my business here is for the very thing the Roadless Rule protects. The wilderness that my clients experience while aboard my charter vessel, is something you cannot experience elsewhere. The overturning of the Roadless Rule will significantly impact the ability to show these people what we have all come to love and appreciate about our great state.

I am concerned that the trickle down effect of the alteration of the Roadless Rule will have a long term impact in the following ways:

- dissuade future residents from moving to the state
- hurt hunting/fishing operations, both commercially and recreationally
- negatively impact tourism
- create an innumerable amount of issues in the marine ecosystems

I hope that my, and all the other comments against this issue, persuade you to leave the Roadless Rule in effect for the benefit of everyone involved.

Thank you,
