Comments:

As a long time resident of Southeast Alaska (Juneau) I would like to request that the roadless rule NOT be rolled back. Such a move would expose critical salmon habitat to potential great harm for little, if any, economic gain from increased wood production. The future speaks to maintaining our natural resources for the fishery industry, tourism and the esthetics of preserving some of the last of our disappearing wild places.

Please think long term (not short term, special interest motivated pressure for marginal economic gain for a few) when deciding on this important issue.

Thank you for making the right choice for the most people,

Nils Dihle
