Comments:

The Chichagof Conservation Council(CCC) is based in Tenakee Springs, Alaska on Chichagof Island. Our members include fishermen, scientists, small business owners and other full and part-time residents of Tenakee Springs. Many members have been involved in conservation efforts for more than 40 years.

CCC's board of directors and members support continuing the protection of the "Roadless Rule" throughout the Tongass National Forest and in particular in the fish-rich watersheds of Tenakee Inlet. We urge you to keep the Roadless Rule intact and add more protection, not less.

Tenakee Inlet watersheds of particular concern to the Chichagof Conservation Council are: Trap Bay, Kadashan, Crab Bay, Saltery Bay, Seal Bay, Long Bay, all three rivers known as Goose Flats, and the magnificent river at the Head of Tenakee Inlet.
