Comments:

I strongly oppose any revised management plan for the Chugach National Forest which further restricts winter access for snowmachines, including everywhere in the Forest. Alternative B on the planning map appears to leave access where it currently is. I strongly oppose Alternatives C & D. The Wilderness Study Area near Lake Nellie Juan should also be eliminated with no restrictions to motorized winter access. I have traditionally skied and snowmachined throughout the Church National Forest for my childhood and adult life and there isn't incompatibility between the two sports for shared use of the entire Forest in wintertime. It is my deepest concern that non-resident input will unfairly bias the outcome of this revision process and Alaska residents should have the primary consideration in this process.
