Comments:

Please don't shut this amazing foot launch flying site down. My first flights from this special place were in 1996. So much to say about this place and the times spent in the surrounding area then and in years since. I understand the need to protect and preserve such places but I really don't see how free flight negatively affects this area. Certainly there is a reasonable solution to continue to allow free flight from King Mountain. Perhaps ANILCA is an example. Didn't it allow for the designation of wilderness areas while still allowing for traditional use in those areas such as fixed wing aircraft? I wish I had more time to research this and provide a more educated comment but I just heard about this potential site closure due to including it in a new wilderness designated area and the comment period closes in another day.

Thank you
