Comments:

I'm commenting in support of continued paragliding operations at King Mountain. As a newer paragliding pilot, I am looking forward to exploring different sites around the country, including King Mountain. In my experience, paraglider pilots are generally very respectful of the sites we fly, cleaning up after ourselves and others and working to preserve the character of the site and follow the local rules. Hopefully continued paragliding operations, include road access to launch and landing can be maintained under the new management plan.
