Comments:

I had the opportunity to fly my hang glider from King Mountain in 2015. It was one of the most awesome adventures in my 30 year hang gliding career. This site provides access to mountain ranges that would otherwise not be accessible to free-flight. Leaving the road open to the hang gliding and paragliding launch area is key to allow access to the awesome sky above the beautiful mountains of Idaho. Both free-flight activities are essentially no impact to King Mountain other than driving up the road. Please continue to provide the access for future generations of free-flight enthusiasts. King Mountain is an icon in the flying community and loss of access would be a detriment to the sport.

Please review these videos to get an idea the adventures had at King Mountain.

Thank you for considering to please keep access to King Mountain open.
