King Mountain has been in the hearts of pilots for many many years. The hang gliders and paragliders not only chase lifting air high into the sky, but they chased dreams and a way of life. It is a very special and amazing place to fly. It is critical to our group to save the road access to launch, the airspace above King Mountain and the Lost River and Lemhi range. There are few places with a road to launch, no trees in the way of the take off, and a landing zone within glide distance from launch, (in case you don't get lift,) and King Mountain is one of them. Pilots come from all over the world to fly this site, and have so for over 40 years...but you may have not known that as we are a low impact bunch. Please, please, allow us to continue our pilgrimages to King Mountain to fly, as it is our Mecca! Us and the future hang gliders and paragliders rely on you to not make this a wilderness area.
