Comments:

The King Mountain hang gliding and Paragliding launch site is a national treasure. I have flown from over 50 different free flight launch sites in the USA and North America, and King Mountain is one of the very best. I am usually a great supporter of wilderness, but designating the King Mountain Launch and approach road as wilderness would eliminate an incredible resource for hang glider and paraglider pilots. I am opposed to designating that area as wilderness because of its historical value and future value as a launch site for free flight pilots.
