I have major reservations about the new travel plan. You have taken far too much of our, I repeat, OUR forest away from law abiding citizens; that are just looking to have fun. Over the snow travel has the least impact on the ecosystem in the Rocky Mountains. A snowmobile creates little to no erosion and also helps the water sheds by slowing the run off. Non motorized trail use causes greater erosion over a period of time; that is far more detrimental to the ecosystem as well as aids in the spreading of invasive plant species. I believe that your organization is blaming the wrong people, and in the long run are missmanaging our forests, and in doing so you are infringing upon the people's right to use the forest.
