Comments:

I believe the project should go ahead and cut down the older trees. Very soon these trees will die and fall down if not cut. I read a research report that states that wood that degrades in the forest puts out 10 times the green house gases as wood that is cut and used for other purposes. Therefore, cutting this wood will lessen green house gases and provide an area for new trees that will grow faster and actually take in more carbon. Life is a cycle, keep the cycle going.
