Please read what your own Forest Service mission statement on public land and forest management says (this comes directly from that): "Public lands the Forest Service manages contribute more than $13 billion to the economy each year through visitor spending alone. Those same lands provide 30 percent of the nation's surface drinking water to cities and rural communities and approximately 66 million Americans rely on drinking water that originated from the National Forest System. The agency also has either a direct or indirect role in stewardship of about 900 million forested acres within the U.S., of which over 130 million acres are urban forests where most Americans live."

Please don't destroy one of the only old-growth forests left in our country, or the northern hemisphere for that matter! Please leave this forest untouched for all that come after us to enjoy!

Thank you, Robert Klang
