Comments:

I am an East Coast hang glider pilot who traveled extensively in the west to fly hang gliders, and King Mountain was always a premier flying destination for myself and others. It offers spectacular mountain flying with essentially zero impact on the environment other than the very minimal need to drive to the launch location.

I have not been to King Mountain in recent years as I am raising my children, but I wish to be able to return there to fly in a few years and to bring my "next generation" along so that they can experience the beauty of flying at King Mountain themselves.

I respectfully request that driving access to the launch area at King Mountain be preserved for the benefit of we the people, both of this generation of future generations. Thank you.
