The beginning of the Windy Ridge road is in the Huckleberry project area even though most of the Windy Ridge road is not. Although this is officially a closed road even before the implementation of this project I have heard that ATVs have found a way to get in there. This long road is a crucial escape area for big game when there is too much motorized use in the area. I hope that there will be no possible way for motorized users to get onto this road by the time the project is complete. Any method that works would be fine by me...better location of gates, partial obliteration--whatever works.
