I am concerned about this ridiculous project. This is the easiest trail/safest trail to access lost lake. With this closure my kids will never be able to see the beautiful back country of the are. The fire house trail turns into a ice hill due to the overgrowth/intertwining of the tree branches blocking snow falling to the ground. The snug harbor trail doesn't have a parking lot and the trail runs through a deadly terrain trap/avalanche are for many miles. How about you hold meetings in the nov/dec time frame after 630pm when the people who use these trails are off work and able to attend and voice opinions and helpful alternatives to prolonging and upgrading trail use.
