Comments:

We as a planet are experiencing unprecedented increases in ocean temperatures, as well as seeing any number of ill effects from carbon emissions that cause global temperature rise. The idea of going into an old growth forest - trees ABSORB carbon - and clear cutting hundreds of thousands of acres of that forest for the state of Alaska's short term financial gains is simply put immoral and horrendous. I vehemently oppose the approval of alternative 6, and hope that intelligence and science will prevail. If you want to die sooner, just do it by your own hands instead of killing the planet slowly but surely and making all of the rest of us sentient beings who actually believe the science, and who have compassion for all other beings die a slow and painful death.
