Please do not give up the land of such beauty. Alaska's wildlife would be in great danger if they are no longer protected by the government. Continue the legacy of other President's in the fight to preserve the nature and animals within the state. If not it could be like another New York City where no one believed that all of New York City would become concrete island and if it were not for those who kept the park then we would have never known that the city was anything like that of the park. Another point is to help those that are around the area, natives and locals, to continue to see the beauty and tradition of Alaska. Where they can and always go out and see the diverse community that live everyday for the wild. Here in Tennessee, we appreciate our lands and parks and cherish the fact that we can always go to them when we all need an escape from the towns/cities and I would feel better if Alaskans too can also have a place to escape and enjoy the wildlife without it being taken from them. So please do NOT open the lands and KEEP them protected!
