The Tongass National Forest is a very important temperate rain forest in the United States that must remain road-less. We cannot continue to destroy our eco-systems because then it will destroy life on Earth. Rulers do not understand the delicate nature of eco-systems and their arrogance is that we will be able to live without these eco-systems. Many species are going extinct every day. We must be more diligent in the undisturbed protection of our natural habitats. This is also an affront to God and it must be stopped. God is watching. Please let us preserve our natural spaces that still remain and stop taking away from those areas and try to live sustainably within the areas we already consume. It can be done and it must be done. We must be imaginative and brave and learn how to live sustainably and there are no short cuts and we must stop our devastation of the remaining natural resources.
