Do not allow logging in the Tongas, it is one of the few remaining old growth forests remaining in the world. The value of the Tongas is in the standing forest, the ecology of the world requires it to remain in our future struggles to combat climate change. As an architect I have seen 800 year old trees, cedar, cut and sawn for fences and decks that don't last thirty years. This is insanity, we must retain the remaining old growth areas until we are wiser and better stewards of the forests. The old growth forests contain plants and animals we don't even know what they are and what value they may have for man kind. please save this area for the air and water we need.

Thank you!
