Comments:

The Tonga Forest is an important piece of nature that helps to lessen human affects on climate. This old growth forest helps with are carbon problems, and it you destroy these trees you accelerate the rise in temperature in the US. That would just be stupid & shortsighted.

To even contemplate damaging this area is wrong for The creatures that call this forest home. We need to value our animals not threaten their very existence.

The land is also has Tribal significance & we must not violate our treaties & promise to these people. Their history & culture matter & the forest is a big part of that! Stop this craziness. Sherry Robertson
