Dear friends at USFS-

If you live in Southeast Alaska, you probably eat like me and my family: wild salmon, venison, & waterfowl are our staples. I'm fortunate to have 2 full chest freezers this year, crammed with bounty from The Tongass National Forest. We rely on areas protected by the roadless rule to harvest almost all of our protein. We hope you can advocate for the No Action[text boxed for emphasis] Alternative! Keep the roadless rule!
