Hi, like to voice my support for this project. the points I'd like to emphasize are the opportunity connectivity has for energizing the outdoor recreation economy, and then the value these trails have for our mental and physical health. What we've seen resulting from the pandemic is an explosion of interest and use of trails, and there's ample research connecting being outside with improved mood and physical health. And then economically, creating connectivity means people have wider options for multi-day trips. More multi-day trips means an large increase in the economic impact of the improvements on the area. Thanks!
