El Yunque is a rainforest, and one of PR's main attractions. It was destroyed by Hurricane Maria, and funds are required to get it in optimal conditions to encourage tourists and locals to visit it once again. PR needs urgently an economic income based on its tourism, among other ways (such as pharmaceutical income). Therefore, I strongly believe helping El Yunque get better roads and sidewalks/pathways for people to walk safely and freely thorough this national treasure. Some developments could be made, too, such as cafes/food trucks near the area where people may explore and eat as needed without leaving the National Rainforest.
