I am strongly opposed to expanding the ski area boundry especially into the north fork of teton canyon! ive been recreating at and around the ghee for 20 years. in that time have seen big horn sheep, mountian goat, moose, wolverine, bear, grouse, ermin, deer. privatizing the backcountry is unfair to locals and the pristine wild. the snow conditions in that zone are most often extreme and not worth putting roads, lifts, tourists, and especially bombs. this area will be destroyed. bombs will do so much damage to the wildlife and its habitat. please do not let targhee expand boundries. make the most of current boundries is acceptable, but the strain that current rise in recreators both up high and on the canyon road is pinching off whats left of a pristine wildlife zone. apart from the environmental concerns it is also very greedy and selfish of targhee to want to close half of its backcountry to locals and only allow guided controlled access to the wealthy clients that dont even have the skill or knowledge to belong back there. i am willing to sacrific all access to keep it from being private only. thank you for listening.
