I'm glad to see funding for outdoor enjoyment. I'm an avid hiker, botanist, and birder starting 50 years ago. My family has been in Ky since the 1790s. My comment is that we use our money to benefit those who enjoy and find solace in the forest. Not those who harvest it. I would not wish this be used for logging roads, office upgrades, logging studies, or studies at all. Upgrade trails, teach people about ecology, protect sensitive and old growth places, protect Red River Gorge from overuse. Plant and treat hemlocks. We need to protect our precious, unique forests and teach our people how special it is.
