Comments:

I am a member of the Mazewalli Nation. We are Indigenous Mesoamerican diaspora living in occupied Indigenous territories in the southwestern so-called United States. Some 1,200 years ago, my ancestors made their way from Western Mexico and traded with ancestral Puebloans, Hopi, Diné and many other Indigenous peoples and cultures.

We do not own this land.

We are part and parcel of it.

Just like O:ku:pi, the mountains east of our city.

We, the members of this Great House, emphatically condemn the development, construction of, and financing for this project which will desecrate this sacred land.
